var http = require('http'); var server = http.createServer(function (request, response) { var path = request.url; response.writeHead(200, {"Content-Type": "text/plain"}); response.write("Hello World! "); response.end();});server.listen(8080);

When I open a command line on the remote machine and open the browser with the address localhost:8080, the program runs fine. However, if I try to open the page on the machine where the Node.js program is installed, I get a 404 error. How can I make this work? A: Make sure that you are running Node as root user. # useradd niemi # su -s /bin/bash -c "node app.js" niemi or # curl -sS -D - should work.
- 2015 Pulitzer Prize for Poetry The 2015 Pulitzer Prize for Poetry was announced on April 19, 2015 at a luncheon at Columbia University's School of the Arts in New York City. The award recognizes a single work of poetry by an American poet published in the United States during 2014. The committee comprised of historians and academics selected Frederick Barthelme of North Carolina State University as the winner of the $50,000 prize for his book, The Chart: A Measure of Love. In the announcement, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Pulitzer Prizes Katharine Wright called the book, "a masterpiece of lyricism and evocation." She added, "The writing here is so vivid, it is hard to believe this is poetry. The Chart is like a poem with an engine, it cuts through the landscape of human experience with breathtaking intensity. The work is so intense, it never lets up, every page is a challenge, and every turn of the poem is unexpected, giving the reader a wildly poetic journey." Afterward, 82157476af
